

RISING HIGHER

Indeed you have been listening to my instructions and your life is being changed. You have overcome - to a measure. But now is the time to rise to a new level, to a higher level of overcoming. You have seen - to a measure, but now is a time to rise higher, to see more. You have obeyed - to a measure, but now it is time to rise higher, to a higher level of obedience. It is time to rise up to the HIGHER CALLING.

Know this, as you are increasing in understanding, you shall also increase in obedience, you shall increase in faith, and in trust.

I do not wish for you to settle for where you are – you would be settling for far too little. I do not wish for you to have too little. I do not even wish for you to have 'just enough', I am the God of "More than enough". I desire to give you more, so much more, more than enough. I AM GOD. I do not want to just meet your needs; it is my desire to exceed your needs. I have the means to exceedingly, specifically, uniquely, care for you. My desires for your life will be manifested in equal proportion to your submission, to your surrender, to your obedience, to your desire to line up your heart with my desires.

Your victory will come EVERY TIME, when you dare to place your situations that are impossible into the hands of me, Almighty God, with whom ALL THINGS are possible. The biggest, and often the ONLY hindrance to this happening, is you - your attitudes - your lack of trust; your unbelief.

You have done well. You have come far. Now, you need to re-examine your boundaries and your priorities. Unbelief toward Me is sin, and definitely to your own detriment. For your own well-being, now is the time to establish the boundary that no matter what, you and I are One. Make a life decision to be in agreement with Me, My Word, and to trust Me. As I promised, I will never leave you or abandon you. I love you, I care for you, I have the greatest plans for your life. Do not compromise that boundary, regardless of what happens, or what you feel. Re-establish your priorities; get rid of the clutter, the busyness; your agenda. Prioritize your life to do nothing that is not immersed in Me. Prioritize your life around our relationship. I promise you, everything else will flow from that; every need will be more than met; every desire will be aligned with my desires for you. You will find your joy in Me; your contentment, your peace – you will find it all, it will just come to you as you come to Me.

The most difficult times are now behind you. This is a new season. This is springtime in your life. You have faced many obstacles. You have been quietened with my love. Your faith has been increased. But there is so much more. New life is coming forth. New dreams are coming forth. New plans are being established in me. New visions will be planted in you. Your very life is being expanded, increased. Never be afraid of going backwards. Never be afraid of Me. I only want the best for you. Breathe slowly and deeply and catch the scents of the new aromas emanating from you. I have done a new thing.

Do not get comfortable as if 'you have arrived', rather, see the victories as just the beginning; as just a small taste of what is yet to come. This sweetness is just the beginning, so keep your attitude right, keep your heart right. Stay focused on Me. Do not let any distractions take you off course. Do not let any pettiness consume you. Stay focused! Remember what I have done, do not become forgetful or ungrateful. Let every day begin with Thankfulness and Great Expectation. At all times, just praise Me with your lips, with your heart, with your life. Be grateful from your heart.

There is a new hope rising. There is new life rising up from within you. Embrace it. Allow it to come forth. Let it Multiply. Let it Increase. Let it take you higher than you have ever been, deeper than you have ever gone, beyond anything you have ever known. I have a High Calling on your life. Let the dead things go, and let the new life rise up. Let it take seed and grow, and grow. New Life Come Forth!
